

Bill McGrath, associate director of The John Marshall Law School Center for Intellectual Property and an adjunct professor, stands with his wife, Mary, after winning a Lisagor Award from the Chicago Headline Club for a column he wrote for the Chicago Daily Law Bulletin. McGrath's winning column clarified misconceptions detailing Newt Gingrich's battle to use the song "Eye of the Tiger" for his 2012 presidential campaign.